I feel like I really improved my skills. I had done Sashiko technique before, but never using a grid. I felt like it really got me using my maths skills to make it work. I finished the project that we started (a needle case) in my own time after the course finished but I was so 'taken' with what we learned that I've started another new project because I feel confident to have a go. I'm currently upcycling a tablecloth into a garment. As my confidence grows, maybe I'll look to do one of Lareen's dressmaking courses as well.

The group was great for peer support. Lareen created a space where everyone felt happy to help one another, to share ideas and to give suggestions. It was a supportive group. I could connect with other learners like me, and we have created a support network for ourselves (see box below).

Lareen is so good and not judgemental at all. She's really helpful and supportive. She likes to keep in touch her learners and see what projects we are working on. She's very approachable and she makes the British Values relevant to what we're doing; it sets up a great atmosphere for us all to learn in.

Going forward, I will be looking for a follow-on course. I'd love if Lareen ran a part two to go with Make Do & Visibly Mend. Really good at aligning the course with BV.

If the learner would like to add any additional information, comments or feedback about the impact that the course had on them, please use the section below:

Myself and three of the other learners on this course organised a casual meet up in the library to continue working as a group. We meet and bring our projects along and keep giving each other ideas and feedback. We loved the social aspect of the course. It made us all feel good, and we're keen to keep that connection with like-minded people.

Thank you for completing this Learner Impact Form. If you would prefer to submit an audio recording or video, please contact adult.learning@hants.gov.uk.
